

INCIDENT MANAGEMENT SITUATION REPORT
 FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 15, 2000 - 0530 MDT
 NATIONAL PREPAREDNESS LEVEL III

CURRENT SITUATION:

Three new large fires were reported, two in the Southern Area and one in the Northwest Area. Crews reached containment goals on four fires, three in the Southern Area and one in the Northwest Area. Initial attack activity was moderate throughout the United States. The majority of the western states will experience high temperatures and dry conditions over the next few days. Very high to extreme fire indices were reported in Oregon, California, Idaho, Utah, Nevada, Montana, Wyoming, Arizona, Colorado, Kansas, Arkansas and Oklahoma.

All federal employees of the National Park Service, Bureau of Indian Affairs, Bureau of Land Management, Fish and Wildlife Service, and Forest Service are encouraged to complete a questionnaire about the 1995 Federal Wildland Fire Management and Policy Review. It has been five years since the Departments of Agriculture and Interior have adopted the policy. Secretaries Glickman and Babbitt are asking for help in revisiting this policy to ensure that it will continue to meet our needs. Please take about 10 minutes to complete the questionnaire before October 15, 2000, by visiting the NIFC web site at www.nifc.gov/policy_survey.

OUTLOOK:

 FIRE WEATHER WATCH FOR PORTIONS OF NORTHERN TEXAS FOR BRISK NORTHEAST WINDS AND LOW HUMIDITIES.

 FIRE WEATHER WATCH FOR MUCH OF ALABAMA FOR GUSTY NORTH WINDS AND LOW HUMIDITIES. ***

Southern Texas and the Gulf Coast states can expect a cold front to push offshore, which will bring cooler and drier weather to the region. High temperatures will be in the 80's to lower 90's. Minimum relative humidity will be 20 to 30 percent inland and 30 to 45 percent along the immediate coast. Northerly winds will be gusty up to 20 mph along with the dry air.

Across the West, a trough of low pressure will bring a chance of showers and thunderstorms to the western portions of Washington and Oregon. The remainder of the west will be sunny and warm under the influence of a large ridge of high pressure. High temperatures will be in the 80's and 90's. Minimum relative humidity will generally range from the teens to mid 20 percent, with some single digits in the driest areas. Winds across most of the west will be southwest at 15 mph and the extreme northwest could see some light northwest to north winds.
