Predictive Services Discussion: Moisture from the remnants of Hurricane Delores will converge with a cold front over the Great Basin today. This will trigger additional showers and thunderstorms from the Sierra Nevada mountains in California through the central Rockies. On the contrary, it will be dry and breezy in the Pacific Northwest. Scattered showers and thunderstorms will develop on the high Plains today along a frontal boundary. Dangerously hot temperatures will persist today in the southern and eastern U.S. under a ridge of high pressure, while precipitation will be confined along the Gulf Coast through Florida. Upper level high pressure will begin to build into southwest Alaska with warmer conditions and a chance of showers and thunderstorms.

AVIATION WATCH OUTs

Aviation Category

As part of risk management, especially during high activity fires, each aviation manager and employee should be asking questions.

- Is the flight necessary?
- Who is in charge?
- Are hazards identified and known?

Flight Hazards: Have they been identified and assessed? Have the pilots been informed?

- Should the operation or the flight be stopped due to a change in conditions? Consider the following:
 - Radio Communications
 - Environmental Conditions – weather, visibility, terrain, elevation, temperatures
 - Mission Priorities
 - Successful Mission Completion Probabilities
- Is there a better way to do it?
- Is there pressure to complete a mission at all costs?
- Can you justify your actions?
- Is the mission airspace confined or congested?

Multiple aircraft

Mixed types of aircraft

Poor visibility

- Do you have an escape route?
- Are any guidelines being ignored or policies being broken?
- Are communications getting tense?
- Are you deviating from the assigned operation or flight?
